Applicant's election of the semiconductive species in the reply filed on 4 January 2006 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claims 2-4 and 60 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 4 January 2007.

Claims 20-56, 58 and 59 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 27 October 2006.

The Japanese language references cited in the information disclosure statements of 11 October 2005 and 1 September 2006 have been considered with respect to the provided English abstracts and/or translations.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it refers to figure reference numbers, includes the phrase (Selected Drawing) Fig. 1", contains two paragraphs and is more than 150 words. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

Art Unit: 1755

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The drawings are objected to because they include Japanese characters. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The brief descriptions of figures 6, 7, 8 and 15 need to refer to parts a and b of these figures. The brief description of figure 9 needs to refer to parts a-g of this figure. The brief description of figure 10 needs to refer to parts a-c of this figure. The brief description of figure 16 needs to refer to parts a-d of this figure. Page 30, line 8 refers to semimetals and includes tin, bismuth and germanium, which are also metals; boron, which is a metalloid, and silicon, which is either a metal or metalloid, depending on the training of the skilled artisan. Gallium which applicants define as one of the metals is also a semimetal. Thus it is unclear as to what elements applicants consider as “metals” for the inventive metal oxide. Applicants are reminded that the term “semimetal” refers to the electrical property of a material, not its chemical composition. Thus elements which are chemically metals, such as gallium, tin and bismuth, exhibit semimetal conductivity.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claims 18 and 19 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claims, or amend the claims to place the claims in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claims in independent form.

These claims teach the material is used in specific electroluminescent devices. The intended use of the material does not further limit the composition of the material and thus these claims do not further limit the material of claims 1-13.

It is noted that if these claims are rewritten in independent form and directed to the devices, they may be subject to a restriction requirement.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Nowhere in the specification is there any teaching of the material further including an aromatic moiety. The specification teaches, as does claim 17, that the material can further include an aromatic compound. Thus claim 16, as written, does not meet the first paragraph written description requirement of 35 U.S.C. 112.

Claims 1 and 5-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 17 recites the limitation "the aromatic compound". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in this claim or in claim 16. Claim 16 teaches an aromatic moiety, not an aromatic compound.

Claims 1, 5-13 and 16-19 are indefinite since it is unclear as to what elements applicants consider as "metals" for the inventive metal oxide for the reasons discussed above.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

- A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 5, 6, 13-16, 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. patent 5,466,392.

This reference teaches a material having aluminum oxide chelated to 8-hydroxyquinoline and containing an aromatic or a silica moiety. The reference teaches the claimed material.
